GOOD CORN SILAGE

University Bulletin Gives Important Points of Filling Silo.

Are you filling or soon to start filling your silo for the winter?

The University of Missouri, in a circular, "Filling the Silo," gives a number of points that might aid the farmer in filling his silo with corn. Corn for silage, states the bulletin, should be in the same stage of maturity as when harvested for fodder; that is, the kernels should be dented, in the dough stage, and the lower leaves of the stalk turning brown. If possible the corn should not be allowed to become dry before being put into the silo because dry corn will not pack properly unless large amounts of water are used and unless it is thoroughly packed the silage will mould. The one half or three-quarter inch cut of corn will usually prove most satisfactory.

Packing of the silage is very important. A distributor should be used and enough men placed in the silo to do the work well. The sides should be kept a little higher than the center and the silage packed firmly around the walls until near the end of filling. It is well to fill the silo rather rapidly, when it is possible to leave it to settle over Sunday and complete the filling Monday. Otherwise a slower filling is advised.

When the crop has become dry, water may be added either directly into the silo or by running it into the blower as the corn is cut.

If the silage is to stand some time before feeding, it is customary to cover the silo with a number of loads of cornstalks from which the ears have been removed, packing thoroughly with water. Other methods are occasionally used.

The corn may be fed immediately after filling and practically no waste will occur. It will, however, be in the form of green silage from green corn. When feeding is delayed it is necessary to remove the spoiled silage from the top.

"BEST ON EARTH"

WOMAN ASSERTS

Mrs. Deany Watson, of Granby, Declares Tanlac Changed Her Condition Completely.

Granby, Mo., September, 7.—Mrs. Deany Watson, wife of a miner of this city, recently offered the following praise for Tanlac, the new medicine.

"For a long time I have suffered from stomach trouble and I was in a highly nervous condition. Sharp pains would come in the pit of my stomach after I had eaten and gas usually formed in my stomach. I had no appetite, I was so nervous that the least noise or anything unusual would startle me. I didn't rest well at night and I felt tired in the mornings.

"It seems that I've been changed entirely since taking Tanlac. I can eat a good meal now and there are no pains in my stomach or bloating afterwards. My nerves also are in much better shape. I'm glad of the opportunity to tell other women of Tanlac for I know it is the best medicine on earth."

Tanlac, the Master Medicine, is especially beneficial for stomach, liver and kidney trouble, catarrhal complaints, rheumatism, nervousness, loss of appetite and the like and is a fine blood purifier.

Tanlac is now being specially introduced and explained in Jasper at the H. F. Pitts drug store.

The Judge and Jury Say

It has been the unanimous report from every experiment station that Swift's Fertilizers are the best. That is why we say and that is why the Judge and Jury all say Swift's Fertilizers are the right kind to buy. We have confidence in Swift's goods and are carrying in stock ready to load. If we have taken your order, remember we have it for you now and to be sure of it you had better haul it out home while you can get it. Swift's tell us it is impossible to make delivery of the amount needed in the right time for sowing, and first come first served is their policy, and we are doing the same and now have it ready to load. The Judge and the Jury also say that Peter Schuttler Wagons have stood the test for 78 years and are without doubt the best wagon sold.

Hog Cholera Control Work.

One of the first symptoms of hog cholera is a loss of appetite, which may be only partial or the animal may refuse to eat anything at all. Generally they will be found lying around in the grass, weeds or under the bedding; the sides and flanks tucked up, the back arched, the eyes inflamed and sometimes the lids are glued shut. When the hog moves about it has a weak, wobbly gait in the hind parts. Fever is always present, ranging from 104 degrees to much higher.

Do not wait for these symptoms to develop, but phone or write to the nearest Deputy State Veterinarian, who will come to your farm and examine your hogs FREE of any expense to you. If it is cholera, he will ask to vaccinate them as soon as possible in order to save your hogs and prevent the disease spreading over the neighborhood. It will cost you only the price of serum used. The state pays the deputy for his work.

The Deputy Veterinarians for Jasper and Lawrence counties and their locations are: Dr. W. J. Houser, Caathree; Dr. W. F. Berry, Joplin; Dr. D. C. Houser, Jasper; Dr. J. A. Heck, Sarcoxie; Dr. J. L. Wells, Aurora; Dr. J. R. Pearson, Peirce City; Dr. G. J. Garman, Lockwood.

Call any of the above name deputy veterinarians when your hogs are sick. Their services are FREE.
